BLUEBEARD CONFESSES TO CRIMES

Killed Sixteen Persons He Claims In Various Parts of the Country

CHICAGO AUTHORITIES

Convinced That They Will Be Able to Confirm Murderer's Guilt to Many of the Crimes—Slayer of the Dancing Instructor.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Oct. 6.—While the police are satisfied that Henry Spencer is guilty of many murders besides that of Alice Rexroat, they were forced to conclude today that his statement of murdering twenty persons an exaggeration. Spencer is addicted to the opium habit, a symptom of which is his great imagination. The police learned that while he was in prison at Joliet on a charge of larceny, the prison authorities had regarded him as mentally defective and from time to time had confined him in the infirmary. He told fellow prisoners of having committed several murders.

Associated Press dispatches from Detroit, Delavan Lake, Wis., and Goshen, N. Y., further shook official faith in the confessions. Investigations at these points while not absolutely disproving Spencer's statements indicated that there was little likelihood that they were true.

An investigation which will require some time, will be necessary, it is said, before it is determined just how much of the prisoner's story is true and how much fiction.

"Some of his stories probably are fictitious," said Captain Halpin today, "but on the whole I believe he is almost as great a criminal as he claims to be."

The woman whom Spencer said he murdered near the county hospital, was shown by police records today to have been Mrs. Annabel Wright, who was beaten on the head last December, robbed of $50 and two diamond rings and who succumbed to her injuries June 19, last.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Oct. 6.—The police today began their gruesome investigation of the almost unparalleled confession last night of Henry Spencer that he is the murderer of sixteen persons. Possessing evidence to support his admission that he killed Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, the dancing instructor, on Sept. 25, the authorities are convinced that they will in a short time confirm Spencer's guilt to many, if not all, the crimes of his crimson career.

The following is a list of some of the crimes he is alleged to have been connected with.
Former wife at Belle Isle, Mich.; beaten to death and body burned.
Former New York widow; name forgotten.
Former wife, near Ft. Montgomery, N. Y.; beaten to death in woods, robbed of $300 and diamonds worth $500.
Former maid to Helen Gould.
Aged man in Washington Park last spring; shot and body thrown in the lagoon. Got $200 in cash.
Two girls.
Two girls at Pawpaw Lake, Mich., in May or June. Beaten and bodies thrown in water.

BELIEVE AMERICAN MISSIONARIES SAFE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Peking, Oct. 6.—A message dated October 3 was received at Sing Yuan Fu in the Province of Puh-pi from the Rev. Christian Stakestad and the Rev. Mr. Johnson, the two American missionaries trying to negotiate with the Chinese bandits for the release of the American and Norwegian missionaries held in captivity by the bandits at Tsao Yang. It says that three white women and two children are at the bandit's headquarters and have not been harmed, while the men are believed to be living.

Ultimate Elimination of All Grade Crossings In City Will Be the Result

Hon. John Y. Bassell, manager of the Columbus Convention and Publicity Association, which is a department of the Board of Trade of the city of Columbus, O., in speaking of the elimination of grade crossings in Columbus says:

"The people of our city, broadly, have come to accept, with gladness, the accomplishment; and would not, under any circumstances, be willing to return to former conditions."

The above is a view of one who has wide acquaintance with the situation in Columbus and should have great weight with our people in determining whether it is advisable at this time to eliminate the grade crossings on the south side of this city.

To those who have given this matter careful consideration it has not seemed wise at the present time to undertake the elimination of all of the grade crossings of the city. If this is the correct view there can be little doubt that the proper place to commence a project for the elimination of the grade crossings of the city is at the crossings from First to Sixth streets, inclusive. This is true for several reasons. These crossings are nearer the business section of the city, have a larger number of railroad tracks and are so exposed and so extensively used that they are rendered very dangerous. There are other very good reasons why a project for the elimination of grade crossings would properly be commenced in this section of the city. The present plans for the elimination of the grade crossings looks forward to and becomes a part of a general scheme for the elimination of practically all of the grade crossings of the city.

The proposed elevation of the tracks from First to Sixth streets, inclusive, is such that it would be possible as a part of the general plan both of the Pennsylvania railroad company and the city ultimately to eliminate the grade crossings at East Main and Cedar streets. If this is done it will also mean at the same time the separation of the crossings of the Pennsylvania track and the track of the Lake Erie division of the E. & O. railroad company, thus not only making a most desirable change from the standpoint of the railroads but insuring at the same time greater safety and better service to the traveling public.

The plans for the proposed elimination of crossings from First to Sixth streets, inclusive, have been prepared on the part of both the city and the railroad companies with a view ultimately of eliminating the grade crossings at Union, Pine and Williams streets as well as those in the north end of the city. If, as now seems probable, the part of the Ohio canal going through West Newark is to be abandoned, it will then be possible for the railroad companies to reduce the grade from Sixth street west. This will be desirable not only from the standpoint of the railroad companies because it will give them a better grade, but it will undoubtedly be desirable from the standpoint of the city because it will easily make possible the elimination of the grade crossings at Union, Pine and Williams streets by taking these streets over the railroad tracks. This is desirable especially because Union and Williams streets are both crossed by the city cars and Pine street by the Interurban cars.

It therefore seems to those who are interested in the bond issue for the elimination of the crossings from First to Sixth streets, that looking at the question of the ultimate elimination of all of the grade crossings in the city, that they have commenced right. The grade crossings nearest the center of the city, most exposed and used most extensively should be eliminated first. Then if it is desired, as it undoubtedly will be, to continue the elimination that may be done and will be a continuation merely of the project already entered upon by the city. Is it not therefore best that the citizens of the East and North Sides look at this matter from the broad standpoint of the whole city? If they do that they will see that the successful outcome of the proposed bond issue means the ultimate elimination of the grade crossings in both these sections of the city.

MYSTERY IN MURDER OF YOUNG GIRL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Oct. 6.—Mystery still shrouds the murder of Miss Ida G. Leegson, an art student, who was lured by a telephone call to a section in the southwest of the city Sunday and strangled with a silken cord. Following her identification little has been found to indicate a motive for the crime.

Hurried investigation has shown only that she led an exemplary life, had no men callers at any of the places where she is known to have resided and she is not thought to have possessed any large amount of money. Miss Leegson was a graduate of the University of Chicago, a sculpture pupil of Lorado Taft, and a student at the art institute. Her murder marked the end of a long, pitiful struggle to make her way as a sculptor. Her studies at the University of Chicago were to fit her for work by which she could earn enough to complete her art education. For several winters she taught school, returning to the city to resume work at the art institute.

Only a few hours before she was lured to her death she answered an advertisement for a domestic, saying she had to have funds to enable her to continue her studies and was not too proud to do kitchen work. Late Saturday afternoon a man who gave the name of Wilson, telephoned the residence where Miss Leegson lived and asked her to take a position as nurse in a maternity case. She was directed to go to Seventy-first street and Western avenue and walk to an address four miles west. The body was found three miles west of the street intersection in a clump of bushes. The address to which she had been directed does not exist.

Game wardens followed a trail of torn clothing to the spot where her half nude form was lying. On her neck were finger marks and encircling it was a thin blue line which was made by a piece of cord found nearby. There also were fresh tracks made by an automobile. A guard at a railroad crossing on Seventy-first street saw a large black touring car go west on Seventy-first street Saturday evening. It returned about three hours later.

Miss Leegson recently returned from Mason City, Iowa, where she taught for a few weeks, giving up her position because she was not fitted for teaching in the grammar grades. She has also taught at Cameron and Oshkosh, Wis., and Dollar Bay, Mich. Miss Leegson once brought suit against Dr. T. J. Allen of Aurora, Ill., on the ground that he falsely accused her of flirting with some of her pupils and caused her dismissal.

PUBLIC HEARING FOR GRAPE GROWERS AND WINE MAKERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Oct. 6.—In an effort to dispose of finally the vexed question of domestic wines, Secretary Houston today announced that he would hold a public hearing Nov. 5, to which he invites "wine makers and grape growers of all parts of the United States and all other interested parties."

Two recent rulings of the department of agriculture have called forth protests from the wine manufacturers. One order compels the label to indicate plainly whenever any substance other than the fermented juice of the grape is contained in the product, while the second would prevent Ohio and Missouri wine producers from using sugar to sweeten their product without plainly indicating on the labels of the bottles the presence of sugar.

The manufacturers have contended the orders are onerous, inasmuch as they make difficult the proper coloring of their vintages.

MEEKISON IS A WITNESS IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, Oct. 6.—Taking the stand in his own defense, C. C. Meekison, Henry county auditor, today told the story of his visit to the offices of the Ohio Equity Association on the night of Aug. 2 last. It was this visit, made in company with J. D. Cargould, Akron politician, that led to the arrest of Meekison and Cargould, and their present trial on a charge of attempted burglary of Warnes and Kilpatrick tax law referendum petitions from the Equity Association's officers.

At the direction of his attorney, W. H. Boyd, Meekison immediately began a detailed history of his connection with the efforts to beat the referendum on the Warnes bill. He retold to the jury with gestures the speeches he had made in various hotels where telephonic devices were used to catch his statements.

He told of a meeting of Equity Association men at which it was pointed out that the men interested in defeating progressive legislation had plenty of money behind them and were big men in the state.

FANS ARE ARRIVING FOR GAME

RESERVED SEATS SOLD

And Unfortunate Ones Must Get in Line for Tomorrow's
Game When 30,000
Unreserved Seats Will Be Disposed of.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Oct. 6.—This, the day before the opening of the world's series baseball games in New York, found the vanguard of "fans" pouring into the city on every train.

With the exception of minor details to be disposed of by the national commission everything is in readiness for the opening contest at the Polo Grounds tomorrow afternoon. Today's weather was flawless, and the Washington forecast for tomorrow called for another fair day.

Baseball writers from far and near trooped into the city today for their annual meeting this afternoon. There was the usual talk this morning that speculators had secured a choice allotment of reserved seats and signs were displayed in a number of ticket agencies announcing this. The slow one today found the 8,000 reserved seats disposed of and nothing left for him to do but get in line at the Polo Grounds early tomorrow when the 30,000 unreserved seats are thrown open.

It was said again today that it was doubtful whether Snodgrass, the Giants' centerfielder who is suffering from a "Charley horse" would be able to take part in the series. Doyle's injured shoulder has completely recovered, however, and it is certain that he will be in the opening game. If Snodgrass does not play it is probable that Shafer will take his place in the field and Herzog will go to third base. Generally speaking, betting on the series has been light. Some few big bets have been recorded but neither team can be called the favorite. It was said wagering would be the smallest in recent years. An even money proposition has been (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5.)

George E. Davis, Who Confessed That He Dynamited Bridges

George E. Davis, who has just confessed that he dynamited bridges throughout the east for the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' Association, the organization for which Ortho McManical and the McNamars worked in the west, has been taken to Indianapolis.

Among the men he implicates is Harry Jones, now the secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' Association. Jones was arrested in Indianapolis. Davis gave detailed accounts of the blowing up of eleven bridges. Other jobs of the same kind, he said, were planned, but for one reason or another failed to materialize. He traced his own movements from one part of the country to another. He described his meetings with the big men of the union. He told how every step he took was carefully covered into a general scheme outlined in the central offices of the association in Indianapolis.

Davis admitted that he went about his work in a way that frightened the very men who directed it. Frank M. Ryan, convicted president of the association, now out on bail, fairly recoiled from this young man, whose nerve appeared equal to any deed, according to Davis's confession. Frank C. Webb, he said, cautioned him again and again to go easy.

Officials of Dayton Owe City Thousands Say State Examiners

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Oct. 6.—Marked laxity on the part of the officials of Dayton is charged in a report on that city filed with the state accounting bureau by Examiners Will E. Heck and Frank B. Thomas. Total findings of $18,119.50 for recovery are returned.

The largest single finding is against the county, which is held to owe the city $12,261.39 for interest on undivided tax funds. The county is also held to be indebted to the city for fines of $592.90 and for $16.13 for anti-toxin.

Police Clerk R. A. Argabright, convicted of embezzlement, owes the city $1,925.56. The city officials bought Sunday newspapers and the city paid the bills. The findings against officials for this were:

Mayor Edward Phillips, $22.65; City Solicitor F. S. Green, $17.55; Safety Director A. M. Dodds, $21.60; T. H. Linsch, $16. The members of the election board charged the city $19.70 for newspaper bills.

Justice of the Peace A. H. Markey and C. D. Thompson retained marriage fees, the former $27.15 and the latter $188.50. They paid these amounts back.

Dr. A. O. Peters, employed by the board of health, it is alleged, charged $165 too much for medical services.

The city paid for two gold badges which cost $70 for Police Surgeon J. W. Kenney and Assistant Police Surgeon W. A. Ryan. Dr. McKenney claims he lost his badge and when Dr. Ryan quit over a year ago he did not return his badge.

The examiners say that "the purchase of these badges is an example of extravagance. Four members of the election board each drew $37.41 excess compensation, and one drew $15 too much, it is charged.

The city officials got around the law providing for competing bidding in the purchase of supplies to amounts of $500 and upwards by buying in amounts of less than this amount. This is designated on the "split bill method." The examiners criticize it. These purchases are held illegal. They were for fire hose, hydrants and valves. The purchases amounted to more than $5,000.

FIND YOUTH HANGING IN AN ORCHARD

Forest Vermillion, age 16 years, son of Frank Vermillion, a farmer residing in Hopewell township, committed suicide some time Monday by hanging himself to a tree in the orchard on the Vermillion farm.

A call was sent to Newark for the coroner, but both Coroner Wiyiarch and his deputy, Dr. W. L. Jackson, were out of the city and it was found necessary to secure the services of a justice of the peace to act as coroner.

The body was found by a brother and sister of the unfortunate young man. The brother, Gail Vermillion, went in search of the youth when he failed to come to the house for dinner. He had been cutting corn during the morning in a field adjoining the orchard where his body was discovered, lifeless, at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

The only motive ascribed for the deed by the family is that the youth frequently complained of "terrible headaches" and may have committed the act in a moment of temporary dementia. It was said Monday he had never been heard to make any threats of ending his life.

He passed the Boxwell examination last spring, but had been attending the Carmel school.

Surviving are seven brothers and three sisters.

NO RIGHTS VIOLATED IN THAW MATTER

NEW EVIDENCE INTRODUCED IN SULZER CASE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Despite the protest of Governor Sulzer's counsel a motion by attorneys for the assembly board of managers to permit them to reopen their case and introduce further testimony was allowed by Presiding Judge Cullen this afternoon. The new testimony was expected to be brief. A new unreported contribution of $10,000 developed in the impeachment trial of Gov. Sulzer this afternoon. I. V. McGlone testified that he handed the governor ten $1,000 bills for his employer, Allan A. Ryan, a son of Thomas F. Ryan, last October.

FANNY WARD DEAD AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Oct. 6.—Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Fanny B. Ward, writer and lecturer, who died last Saturday night at the home of her daughter here. The body will be taken to Ravenna, O., where it will be interred in the family burial plot.

Mrs. Ward, who was 70 years old, was well known as a newspaper writer more than three decades ago. She contributed Washington correspondence to a number of leading papers and later traveled throughout Mexico and Central and South America, writing extensively of those countries. She was among the first American correspondents to enter Cuba in 1898 and was in Havana when the battleship Maine was destroyed.

EXPIRED SUDDENLY ON STREET

Mrs. Fred Roedel Dropped Dead
Sunday Evening Near Her Home in Day Avenue.

Mrs. Fred Roedel, age 33 years, dropped dead Sunday night about 8 o'clock while on the street less than half a block from her home in Day Avenue. The cause of her death is a mystery which an autopsy held Monday morning by Dr. W. E. Wiyiarch failed to clear up. Physicians who assisted in the examination of the woman's vital organs declare that her heart and brain were in good condition and there was no indication of what caused her death.

The autopsy was held upon the request of the husband, Fred Roedel, a molder, who declared that he wanted the cause of death determined definitely. Consequently, the stomach was removed and was sent to Columbus Monday afternoon for a pathological examination, to determine if possible, if the organ contained any poison.

Neighbors living near the Roedel home, saw the woman fall to the Street as she was walking in the direction of her home. At the time they did not know who she was. Those who saw her fall ran to her side and turned her over. She gasped once and died. A call was sent for the Bagley & Bradley ambulance, and pending its arrival, the woman remained unidentified until the woman's husband arrived on the scene.

He was asked if he could identify the woman and with one look, he declared that it was his wife. He gathered the lifeless body into his arms and carried it to their home, a short distance away.

Dr. Wiyiarch was called but was unable to determine from a hasty examination what the cause of death was, though it was thought at the time that heart trouble or apoplexy might have been the cause. The autopsy held Monday disproved this theory however and the coroner's finding will be deferred until the result of the examination is received.

Mrs. Roedel had been feeling in her usual good health and as far as is known there is no reason why she should attempt self destruction if this should prove to be the case. Besides her husband, she is survived by six children, one of them being a baby a little past six months old.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

FINGER USED IN GRAFTING WOMAN'S NOSE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Oct. 6.—Her nose lost as the result of an accident, Miss Nellie Radigan, of Saint Elma, Va., is in a local hospital growing a new one, but at the sacrifice of the index finger of her left hand, and surgeons today believe that one of the most difficult operations ever performed here will be entirely successful. Their belief will not be proved or disproved, for two weeks yet, however.

Miss Radigan's finger was split and the flesh sewed into place over the nasal passages, the finger bone forming the bridge of the nose. At the expiration of two weeks, when the surgeons believe the skin grafting will have proved successful, they will amputate the finger and from it form a new nose.

VILLA'S ARMY DEFEATED

And Troops Retreat After

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
El Paso, Oct. 6.—A despatch from Washington to the Morning Times, says that American bankers, according to constitutional agents in Washington have agreed to loan $500,000 to the Sonora state rebels, the loan to be secured by a lien on the customs receipts collected by the Sonora rebel government. The money is to be expended on arms and ammunition.

Additional details of the federal victory at Santa Rosalia have been received by Guillermo Porras, personal representative of President Huerta in this city in a despatch from General Mercado, military governor of Chihuahua. What remained of Villa's army of 4,000 men broke and fled under the final assault of General Castro's 4,700 troops Friday afternoon and split into two parts, one flying southward and the other retreating to the east.

General Marecio Caraveo with his command pursued those who fled southward, overtook the fleeing rebels and forced an engagement. The harassed rebels were again defeated with great loss.

The fate of the revolutionists who fled eastward was even more disheartening. General Jose Yaez Salazar had been sent to Conchos by Castro before Friday's assault and the fleeing rebels ran into a surprise. They suffered severely. At last reports they had swung and joined their comrades in flight southward.

General Mercado's dispatch reports the capture of many horses, arms and munitions with the taking of Santa Rosalia. In the field south of the town Castro's army moved forward with Gen. Chavaro and Gen. Landu on the left, Gen. Roias and Gen. Mancilla on the right and Castro himself on the right. The despatch did not say how much the federals suffered in taking the town.

Industrial Freedom That Means the Ending of the Rule of Special Privilege

A long stride toward industrial freedom in this progressive country which means an ending of the long rule of special privilege, has been accomplished. The bill for the revision of the tariff downward, passed by congress by an emphatic majority, has become a law by the signature of President Woodrow Wilson. Educated American statesmanship has won new freedom for the great mass of the American people.

The Democratic party has redeemed the campaign pledges of nearly twenty years at the first opportunity it was given complete control of all branches of the government which must cooperate in the enactment of a law. But it is more than a redemption of campaign pledges which the people see carried to fulfillment. There will be a turning back from a system of special favors for the few that has been detrimental to the many.

In the name of Protection the country has been incanting the idea that it was right to put this or that person, or this or that combination, in the way of making money through legislative enactment. We have bred a horde of parasites and dependents upon governmental favor and bounty, and, unintentionally perhaps, have made craft appear respectable.

Prohibitive protection by congress in behalf of favored interests is on a par with jobbery scandals on the part of state legislatures and municipal councils.

There is little difference in degree between the immorality of a cotton or sugar lobby and a lobby of political contractors. They are actuated by the same motive—to get excessive profit with the aid of public authorities.

If nothing else had been achieved by the revision of the tariff except that a wedge had been driven to sever the corrupting relations between business and politics, that alone would give cause for congratulations. We may be justified, however, in the hope that even more far-reaching effects will come from the economic and industrial independence that will follow.

The new law is still protective in many respects, but not to the extent of special privileges for the few at the expense of the many. The stride that has been made toward industrial freedom gives hopes for the many. It now becomes an established fact that the grand man in the White House at Washington is a champion of the people to an extent that but few of his predecessors have equaled.

SENTIMENT FOR CONG. ASHBROOK IN DELAWARE

The Delaware Journal-Herald of Saturday considerably reproduced the Mr. Vernon Banner's article of October 1, strongly supporting the re-election of Congressman Wm. A. Ashbrook and showing the Democratic sentiment for him in Kent county. In addition to copying the Banner's article the Journal-Herald's editor says:

"The Ashbrook meetings found ready signatures in Delaware county and the Congressional will find plenty of good friends here."

The exports from British Columbia were valued at $29,215,000 in 1912, and $29,015,000 in 1913, while the imports amounted to $26,161 in 1912 and $26,161 in 1913.

On Second Thought

Two thousand years ago the great philosopher, Aristotle, said: "It is not the man who is wise, but the man who is second thought." This is a very true statement. It is not the man who is wise, but the man who is second thought. It is not the man who is wise, but the man who is second thought.

Uncle Walt's Philosophy

Jerome
Jerome, his crisp, stuffy with law, keeps on the trail of Harry Thaw. Whenever Harry flies the coop, Jerome lets out a mighty whoop, and chucks some statistics in his grip, and goes upon a flying trip. No other man in the law has been just to chase poor Harry Thaw and his wife into jail whenever he has hit the trail. When Thaw is safe in donjon, Jerome comes out and goes to sleep, remaining for id in his cell. Thaw cuts loose again. We never hear of him again at other times he stays at home, or he goes to court, he cuts no more in camp or court. The only one in life is his to the ground and home, and Harry jumps his law to a fare you well. Jerome, the great lawyer, the most of his must be a great lawyer, the great lawyer, the most of his must be a great lawyer.

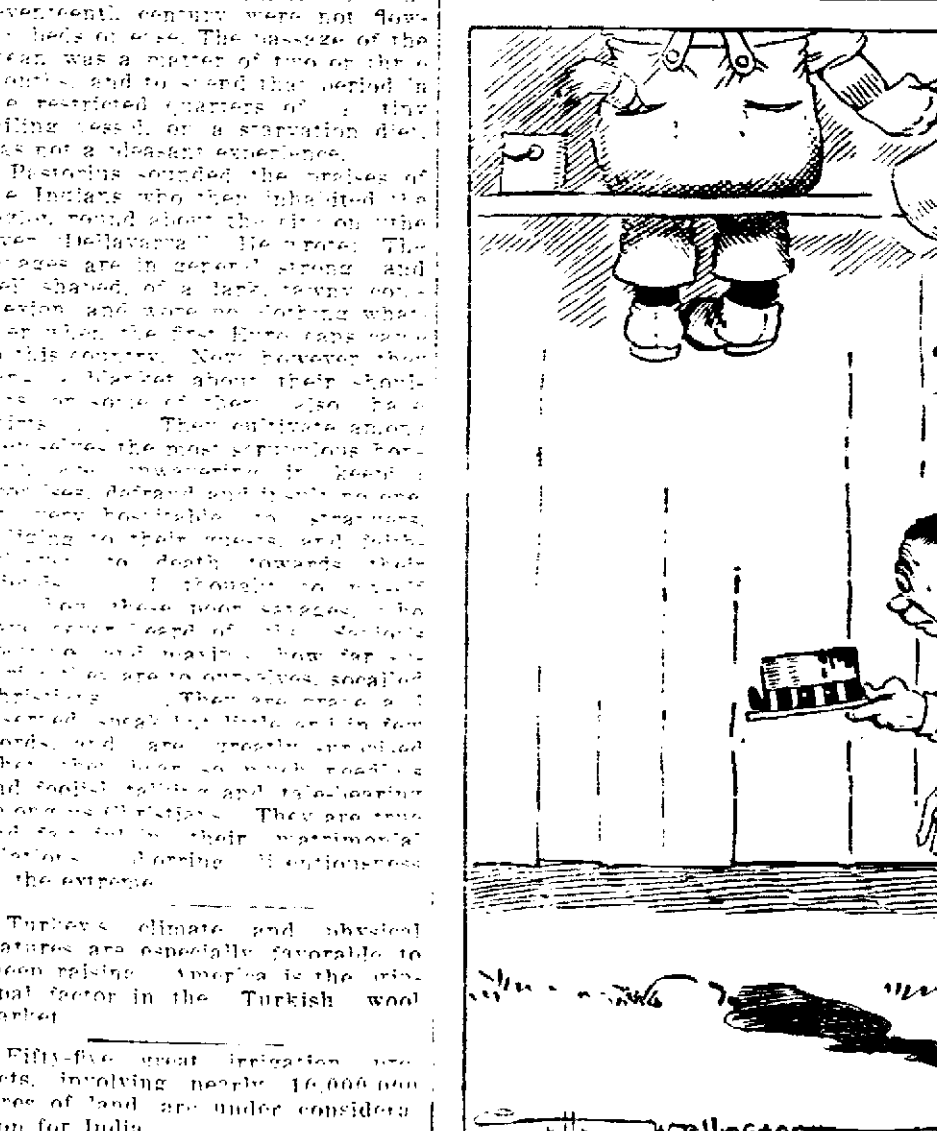

The Human Procession

Among the thousands of subjects of English kings and queens who have been given the right to nobility, there has been just one native of Milwaukee. Sir Thomas George Shannessy, the Canadian Pacific railway magnate, was born in the Wisconsin metropolis six years ago, October 4, 1857. His parents were Irish, in itself a novel circumstance, as Irish ancestors have never been very prevalent in Milwaukee. Thomas George had only a common school education, and at fifteen left the school to become an office boy in the purchasing department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. He applied himself industriously to his tasks, and made a close study of the workings of the department in which he was employed, with the result that at twenty-five he was made general storekeeper of the road. He continued in that capacity until 1882, and in the meantime married Elizabeth Bridget Nagle of Milwaukee.

Anniversary of First German Settlement

German emigration to America, which has played so large a part in the development of the continent, had its beginning 220 years ago today, Oct. 6, 1693, when the first party of pioneers from Germany landed at Philadelphia. There were thirty-three of them, mostly relatives, and all members of a religious society known as the Quakers. Subjected in the fatherland to a bitter persecution, they determined to seek refuge in the New World. The Transfort Land Company was organized, and purchased from William Penn, the governor of Pennsylvania, a tract of land near Philadelphia. Francis Daniel Pastorius negotiated the deal, led the colony to America, laid out the town of Germantown, or Germanopolis, and became the recognized head and law-giver of the settlement.

Treatment of Warts.
All caustics are useful in destroying warts, but the cauterization must not be pushed too far. The skin around the wart should be protected with a layer of collodion or some other protective. With nervous patients, to avoid pain, the application of either methyl or ethyl chloride spray is recommended. Destruction of warts can also be effected with the galvanocautery or thermocautery.

Parents Responsible For Many Faults School Contends With

By WILLIAM L. HAZEN, Head Master of Barnard School For Boys
WE may lay it down as a general principle that it is the duty of the parent to take part in the boy's education, not only in checking any evil tendencies to which he may be inclined, but in watching carefully over the unfolding process through which every boy goes. The individuality is there and if properly watched over will take form that will be a blessing to mankind. PARENTS OWE THAT MUCH AS A REAL DEBT TO A CHILD which they have brought into the world, and the part should be a LIVE, ACTIVE ONE and not merely a passive interest.

THE AMERICAN PARENT, AS A GENERAL THING, IS WOEFULLY LACKING IN THIS RESPECT AND VERY NEGLIGENT AS COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE GERMAN PARENT.

The SCHOOL and the HOME should keep in close touch with each other. There is NO MORE POWERFUL AID in the education of a boy.

The mission of parent and teacher is so important, so sacred and falls so much along the same lines that IT IS EXTREMELY VALUABLE for them to know each other personally, and this acquaintance should be brought about in some way.

Give the school an ORGANIZED HOME and there would not be much more to ask in the way of co-operation.

A few simple, well thought out rules in the home faithfully observed would do away with a good many faults that a school has to contend with and does its best to correct.

First Things

The first daily newspaper in Boston, and also the first in New England, was issued 117 years ago today, Oct. 6, 1796, with Alexander Martin as its publisher and John O'Leary Burke, a "United Irishman" adherent, as editor. It was a small sheet, devoted principally to political propaganda, and it lasted less than six months. Early in 1798 Caleb P. Wayne established a daily journal in the Massachusetts capital. It did not live as long as its predecessor. Bostain remained without a daily paper until 1813, when the Daily Advertiser was launched. W. W. Clapp was the founder, and Horatio Biglow the first editor of this paper, which is still published, having recently celebrated its centenary. The next important journalistic development in Boston was the American Traveler, founded by Royal L. Porter in 1825. The Traveler, originally devoted to the publication of stage coach time tables, developed into a daily paper and is still published as the afternoon edition of the Herald. The Boston Transcript was founded in 1830, the Post in 1831, the Journal in 1833, the Herald in 1846 and the Globe in 1872.

When birthday cakes are made for youngsters celebrating an anniversary, the honored one is usually satisfied if the cake is decorated with five or six flaming candles. Imagine one with 84 brightly flaming candles. Not very many cakes are made and decorated in this manner, but such a one was the central figure of a prettily appointed table at the home of Mrs. Anna Dase Vogel, in German street, Sunday evening, when a family dinner party was given honoring her father, Henry Dase, who reached the eighty-fourth milestone of his life Sunday.

The cake was baked by Mrs. William Bentz of Tenth street, another daughter of Mr. Dase. When the 84 candles were lighted, their glow cast beams of bright light over the happy faces of those who surrounded the family table, but no face was more radiant than that of the father, honored guest of the event.

Thin, pale people lack the power of resistance to disease that rich, red blood gives. Nervous breakdown is the direct result of thin blood. Pale people are always nervous. Such people need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are a doctor's prescription, not a patent medicine. Woman's Greatest Life Work

By Mrs. FREDERIC SCHEFF, President of Congress of Mothers

THE greatest need in the world today is that men and women shall consecrate themselves to the SERVICE OF CHILDHOOD; that they shall see that NOT ONE OF THE LITTLE ONES SHALL PERISH because parents and communities fail to recognize, and provide the influences and education which will develop the highest type of humanity.

TO ACCOMPLISH THESE THINGS AND REALIZE THESE IDEALS IN THE HOME—HAS WOMAN A GREATER OPPORTUNITY?

THE FORWARD-LOOKING WOMAN

THE FIRESIDE WOMAN
By Barbara Boyd

Various Kinds of Idleness

"I certainly have a full day tomorrow," said the Fireside Woman, working fast and furiously on a bit of fancy work she was doing. "I have a date at the dressmaker's in the morning, a bridge party and tea in the afternoon, and our card club meets here in the evening. This is one of the prizes," holding up a piece of needlework she was doing. "I must get this done some way or other."

"You do seem rushed," observed the Forward-looking Woman. "Nevertheless, I should call you an idle individual."

"Idle!" exclaimed the Fireside Woman. "I don't believe there is a woman in this block does more than I do."

"That may be. But you know Socrates' definition of idleness, don't you?"

"No, I don't," retorted the Fireside Woman in a tone that implied she thought Socrates knew very little upon the subject. "But if he were here tomorrow and treked after me, I think he might learn something about the reverse of idleness, and perhaps amend his definition."

"I don't think he would change it," said the Forward-looking Woman. "I think perhaps he would only italicize it."

"What is his definition of idleness?" asked the Fireside Woman. "If he thinks I am idle, he doesn't know what hustle is."

"Hustle,—yes, that may be true. But hustle is not always work. As to idleness, he says, 'Not only is he idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed.' I think that, according to Socrates, you are a very idle person."

"Huh!" retorted the Fireside Woman. "I suppose you think I am idle because I play cards. But one must have some amusement. I suppose Socrates played—er—quits—or something, once in a while."

"Once in a while, yes. But it strikes me you do it several times in a while. Now honestly, taking your days as a whole, day in and out, couldn't you be better employed than you are?"

"I suppose I might go around and do some sort of charitable work, carry baskets to poor families, or something like that," admitted the Fireside Woman. "But there are lots of people who don't care for cards, poor things; and they ought to have something to do. So let them do that, I say."

"That sort of work can't be a gain for you," said the Forward-looking Woman. "I thought I told you I don't believe that spasmodic work, that only comes on once in a while, is of much account. I believe in helping with the big things that lift the whole mass. Were Socrates' definition of idleness generally applied, I guess there would be lots of idleness found the world over, among very busy people. This definition of idleness—that one is idle if he can be better employed,—reminds me of the one of woman's sphere,—that it is doing the best of which she is capable. Both are individual matters. And when the best of you, and the most of your time, go to the very best of which you are capable, bridge or quits or whatever you wish to do for relaxation is not idleness, and what's more, my dear, you'll enjoy your bridge, or your quits, a lot more than you do now."

"Bridge does get to be an awful bore," admitted the Fireside Woman. "Get busy about something real," advised the Forward-looking Woman, "and then you will once more have a keen appetite for bridge."

Theatres

Saturday Night's Play.

The much advertised and widely heralded play "Within the Law" was produced at the Auditorium theater Saturday afternoon and evening under the direction of Arch Selwyn, with Miss Jane Gordon in the leading role, "Mary Turner."

"Within the Law" opened its New York engagement one year ago Sept. 7, and is now in its fifty-sixth week at the Eltinge theater, which is certainly a remarkable record. Jane Cowl, who created the role of "Mary Turner" is still at the head of the cast and will remain until the holidays when she will be starred in a new play.

Margaret Illington, who returned to the stage a little over a year ago is making the greatest hit of her successful career as "Mary Turner" in "Within the Law" at Chicago where she commenced her season last July, the play having a continuous run since that time.

The above two stars have been seen by a number of Newark people both in New York and Chicago and after seeing the play in a metropolitan city they had a chance for comparison with a road company, for any one having seen the play once will surely return to see it again if the opportunity offers.

Saturday night Miss Jane Gordon was cast for the star role, "Mary Turner." Handicapped by a severe cold, in fact under the care of a physician every hour of the day, Miss Gordon displayed every phase of emotional acting that places her in the front rank with Jane Cowl and Margaret Illington. She carried her audience with her from start to finish of the play and at the end of the third act the curtain was raised exactly seven times, something unusual for a Newark audience.

Miss Elleen Wilson as "Agnes Lynch" certainly was delightful. She ranks equally with Florence Nash playing the same character in the original cast. Miss Wilson changed from the worldly wise, slangy street girl and blackmailer in an instant to the polite, refined society girl of the day and the scene between her and Inspector Burke in the fourth act will long be remembered by those who were fortunate in seeing the play.

All of the characters of the play were ably represented and in capable hands, the stage settings were excellent and the play was given here exactly as produced in the Eltinge theater in New York.

A pleasing bit of information to those who were unable to witness "Within the Law" Saturday is the fact that Manager Hamilton of the Auditorium has succeeded in securing a return engagement and the company will return to Newark on Monday evening,

HORNED OWL IN GROUNDS OF WHITE HOUSE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Oct. 3.—Tragedy stalked abroad in the White House grounds last night and employees are speculating whether the body fished from the basin of one of the fountains was that of a suicide or unfortunate drowned accidentally under cover of the darkness. In any event, President Wilson is to profit and the executive office will have a new decoration.

William Strauss, of the White House force, drowned the corpse. It was that of a great horned owl and its claws were entangled in the water lilies that filled the basin with a thick mat. The marauder evidently had designs on the gold fish when it suddenly found itself a prisoner.

PHILIPPINES TO HAVE ULTIMATE INDEPENDENCE

(Associated Press Telegram)

He was greeted on his arrival by a crowd of several thousand people, many of whom had come from the provinces. Traffic in the streets of the city was brought to a standstill by the crowds. Several of the welcoming delegations were accompanied by bands.

ROY COLE MUST SERVE TIME IN PENITENTIARY

Court of Appeals Affirms Decision of the Lower Court—News of Licking County Officers.

Roy Cole will be taken to the Ohio penitentiary by Sheriff Slabaugh Tuesday to begin serving a ten year sentence imposed upon him by Common Pleas Judge C. W. Seward in April, 1912, after a jury had found him guilty of shooting at Policeman Frank Brown with intent to kill.

Cole had been at liberty under bond, pending decision of the Court of Appeals, to which his case had been taken on error. With the affirmation of the lower court's verdict and sentence by the Court of Appeals, announced Saturday, Cole was arrested and placed in the county jail.

At next to the last session of the Court of Appeals here the Cole case was to have come up for hearing, but the defendant's counsel, Attorney J. F. Lingafelter, refused to submit the case in the absence of one of the judges, so it was held over until this sitting. Since Prosecutor J. Howard Jones went into office he has pushed the case as rapidly as possible for a final decision, and it was he who presented the state's case to the Court of Appeals here last week.

The crime of which Cole was convicted was committed in 1908, when officers were seeking to place him under arrest. He was found to be in hiding in the cellar of his mother's home. When Brown and other patrolmen entered the cellar after him, Cole took refuge behind a brick chimney and exchanged shots with the policemen.

CYCLIST HELD FOR INJURY TO WILSON ST. GIRL

William DeAngelo, 22, an Italian laborer, was arrested Sunday morning by Patrolmen Gorman and Stewart and lodged in the city prison slated "investigation." He is charged with being responsible for severe injuries to Dorothy Shrock, age 12, a daughter of William E. Shrock of 192 Wilson street. It is alleged by the police that De Angelo ran into the girl while he was riding a bicycle. The accident occurred September 25, but De Angelo has escaped arrest until Sunday. An affidavit was filed against De Angelo Monday afternoon and he will get a hearing later in the day. Miss Shrock is still unable to leave the house, having suffered a severe injury to the arm.

LEADING MEN OF COUNTRY COMMEND WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels, writes in one of the leading magazines that his sixty thousand reasons for being interested in the Y. M. C. A. are that there are sixty thousand men enlisted in the Navy, and he says: "I cannot remember when I was not interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A. In the town in which I lived an organization was effected to build another Y. M. C. A. building. Some men were asked to give reasons that actuated them in giving money and support. There were four reasons that actuated me in throwing myself into the fight and these were: my four boys. Since I became Secretary of the Navy there are 1,000 reasons for my being interested in the Y. M. C. A. and they are the 60,000 enlisted men in the Navy. As I have gone from Key West to this place, visiting, I feel a thrill of pride in the men of America and have had born within a resolve that the first thought with me shall be, "How shall I help these men to make themselves all of which their mothers prayed that they should become and what God meant them to be." I was in office only a few days when I desired to know the best methods to help the young men of our Navy to be worthy to hold responsible positions, and with this thought I believe that there should be a Young Men's Christian Association secretary on every battleship. I believe that the world is getting better and that the men of the Navy are getting more altruistic. Time was when, as a part of the rations of a sailor, he was given so much rum; the suggestion of that today would be impossible. I make the plea that success in the Navy, fitness for duty, depends upon how the men control themselves. I believe that all of us who are older, if we had the same conception of duty that Mrs. Emery who gave this building, has, all America would be ready to respond in helping and safeguarding all around us."

President Wilson at the cornerstone laying of the Atlantic City Association last year said: "You can test the modern community by the degree of its interest in its Young Men's Christian Association—a common investment that yields a most beautiful return to the common benefit of all mankind."

Vice President Thomas R. Marshall delivered the address at the dedication of the new Y. M. C. A. building at Nashville, Tenn., last month, and he assists in the shop meetings of the association of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton University, now ambassador to Holland, in speaking to the night school men of the Los Angeles, California Association, says, "Three things are in education: first, instruction, the knowledge that it gives you. Second, liberation, the power to use your own faculties that it gives you. Third, the consecration, the sight of something to live for, the welfare of your fellowmen whom to serve is to serve God."

William Jennings Bryan, Hon. Leslie H. Shaw, Hon. John W. Wamaker, and many other of our leading national characters write and speak for the association because they believe in its work. Newark was one of the first of the secondary cities of Ohio to provide its young men with a building for self help. Its building and equipment constitute one of the best assets of which the city can boast. Young men who associate themselves with this institution, immediately affiliate themselves with over two thousand associations in North America with over half a million members and an institution that has equipment valued at $80,367.74, not including the recent bequest of two millions for Army and Navy work. The current expenses for the association last year amounted to $11,942,854. The association has entered every field where men need help. The work finds a ready response and strong co-operation in the colleges; railroad terminals; the Army and Navy; on the Indian reservations; at the leading ports of entry; in the lumber camps; in the great mining fields and in the great centers of population in the foreign land.

From six states, one New Mexico, to the newspaper's project. The little girl is still in the hospital, but doctors say she will recover. She says she intends to fit herself for higher work by means of the fund and is overwhelmed with joy.

The girl's father is crippled, her mother blind and she has several brothers and sisters, all younger than she. The girl was the family's support.

Clean Hands and A Pure Heart

The Pictorial Language of the Bible Amazes Pastor Russell.

SIGNIFICANCE OF PICTURE.

What It Is to Ascend into the Holy Hill—What is Meant by Standing in the Holy Place—Who Have the Clean Hands—What is Signified by a Soul Lifted Up to Vanity—Who Are Those of the Text Who Swear Deceitfully. The Terms and Conditions of the Divine Rewards—Christ the Great Exemplar—To Him and to His Followers the Gates of Glory Lift.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Washington, D. C., October 5. — Pastor Russell addressed the Washington Temple Congregation this afternoon from the text, "Who shall ascend into the Hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in His Holy Place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart." (Psalm 24:3, 4.) He said:

The pen pictures of the Bible abound with their clearness and forcefulness, their crispness and pointedness. We are to remember that the Prophet David was not writing with ordinary poetic license, but was stating in poetic form grand truths which he himself could not fully appreciate. St. Peter tells us this was the case with all the Prophets. He said that holy men of God spoke as they were moved of the Holy Spirit; and that the things that they wrote were intended, not for themselves, but for the Church, during this Gospel Age.

Interpreting our text in harmony with other prophecies, we perceive that the words do not refer to the literal Hill of Zion, nor to the literal Holy Place of Israel's Tabernacle. Mt. Zion typically represented the Kingdom of Messiah, and the Holy Place represented the antitypical Temple of the future, which St. Peter tells us will be the Church in glory, Christ Jesus Himself being the Chief Corner Stone.

"He That Hath Clean Hands." Now comes the question, Who shall be accounted worthy of a place in that glorious Kingdom? Who shall be accounted worthy of membership in that true Temple? The answer evidently applies primarily to the Lord Jesus Christ Himself, as the succeeding verses show. "He that hath clean hands" would signify, he who is able and willing to keep the Divine Law perfectly; secondly, he that is pure in heart, in whom there is no admixture of disloyalty or selfishness or sin—he whose heart is loyal to the core to the great Jehovah.

The Prophet David could not claim such purity of heart or cleanness of hands; nor could any one, except the Son of God, who was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners. He alone could and did keep the Divine Law, both in letter and in spirit. He alone, therefore, was qualified to be the great King in Zion and the great antitypical Priest. In Him alone the royalty of David's line and the Priesthood, typified through Aaron, would unite, and as foretold, would constitute the new Priesthood—a Royal Priesthood, a Priesthood associating in itself the qualities of mercy, instruction, power and authority. Thus it was prophesied of Jesus, "The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent: Thou art a Priest for the Age, after the order of Melchizedek"—a reigning Priest—A Priest upon His Throne.—Psalm 110:4.

Other Tests Were Necessary. The full keeping of the Law was not all that was requisite in the great Heir of the Abrahamic Covenant. All things written by the Prophets concerning Messiah must have fulfillment in Him. And in all those prophecies God had caused to be set forth matters which would indeed be tests of the humility and loyalty of the One who would perform them. Was it not written that Messiah must be led as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep, dumb before the shearers, must not open His mouth in protest? He of whom it was written, "Never man spake like this man," used His eloquence in telling of the grace and mercy of God, but not to deliver Himself from the evil machinations of His enemies, of those bent upon crucifying Him.

Was it not written that He would be the antitypical Passover Lamb, to be slain? And did it not behoove Him, therefore, as He declared, to suffer all these things, and through obedience in these sufferings to enter into the Messianic glory which was to be the reward? Our text tells us this in simple terms—that He did not swear deceitfully—that the Covenant which He made with the Father, a Covenant of Sacrifice unto death, was kept to the very letter. Neither did He lift up His soul unto vanity and pride, nor hearken to the admonitions of the Adversary. On the contrary, He humbled Himself, even unto the death of the cross. This was His great test—far beyond the mere keeping of the Law of the Golden Rule.

And because of His faithfulness, as the Apostle declares, "God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name above every name"—the name of Messiah, the King of Glory—"that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, both of things in Heaven and things in earth." Thus was fulfilled in Him the promise of verse 5, "He shall receive the blessing from Jehovah, and righteousness from the God of His salvation."

"Lift Up Your Heads, Ye Gates." Succeeding verses of this Psalm picture the Redeemer entering into His glorious reward, saying, "Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lifted up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of Glory shall come in!" The ushering of Messiah into the honor and glory of the Kingdom of God, to establish righteousness in the earth, to put down rebellion and sin, and to destroy the works of the Devil, is really the ushering in of Jehovah's Kingdom, for which we pray, "Thy Kingdom come."

Jesus came not to glorify Himself, but to do His own will, He declared, but to do the will of the Father in Heaven. All Messiah's victory will reflect glory upon Jehovah, the great Author of the wonderful Plan of Salvation; for, as St. Paul declares, all things are of the Father, and all things are by the Son.—I Corinthians 8:6.

Partakers of His Holiness. During this Gospel Age God has been selecting from amongst mankind a saintly class, energized by a similar spirit to that of the Redeemer. But, unlike the Redeemer, these are members of the slower race. Our first thought would be that thus they would be effectually barred from participation with the Savior in His victories and coming glory. But behold the wonders of the Divine arrangement! As the Redeemer gave His life to be a Ransom-price for Adam's life and for all those who lost life through him, Divine Mercy has made a special provision whereby the followers of Jesus, who have His spirit, may be made acceptable with the Father at the present time.

This special provision for the Church is that if they consecrate their hearts, their wills, and all they possess, to do the Father's will, our Redeemer will appropriate to them the share of forgiveness and restitution which otherwise would be theirs to enjoy and use during the Millennium. This the Scriptures designate "justification by faith"; and such, we are informed, are holy and acceptable to God.

Can They Keep the Law? From the time they are accepted of God these are treated as New Creatures, and no longer dealt with according to the flesh. With these the standards are the heart intentions, and not fleshly perfection. Of these, therefore, it is written, "The righteousness of the Law is fulfilled in us, who walk (live) not after the flesh but after the Spirit."—Romans 8:4.

But have these the clean hands and pure hearts necessary for a place in the Kingdom? The Bible answers that these New Creatures are pure in heart—loyal to God. Otherwise they would not have been accepted of the Lord, nor begotten of the Holy Spirit. And as for their hands, their lives, the New Creature never had soiled hands of impurity and wilful sin. The only imperfections these New Creatures can have are such as belong to the flesh—such as they may be unable to fully conquer. And these weaknesses and imperfections of the flesh are covered in advance, provision being made through the redeeming blood of Him who tasted death for every man—through Him "who gave Himself a Ransom for all."

What of Their Vanity? and Vows? Can it be said of the true followers of Jesus that they make such a covenant as Jesus made, and that they are able to keep it, and have not made it deceitfully? And can it be said of them that they lift up their souls to vanity, to pride? It cannot be claimed that all who name the name of Christ, and have entered into covenant relationship with God through Him, keep their covenant faithfully. But it can be said that some do so, and such shall share with Jesus His glorious reward. These faithful ones, these overcomers, "more than conquerors," do not lift up their souls to vanity and the pride of life. They do not become followers of Satan, who said in his heart, "I will exalt myself"; but, contrariwise, they "follow the Lamb whithersoever He goeth."

The Vow taken by all of the Lord's consecrated ones who receive the Holy Spirit is the same Vow which Jesus took, the same Covenant. The Master made a Covenant of Sacrifice with the Father by which He surrendered His own will, and that included everything of an earthly kind. Similarly, all whom He accepts as His sacrificers and joint-heirs enter into the same Covenant of Sacrifice, and present their bodies living sacrifices.

Alas, some, according to the Scriptures, will fail to gain the great prize, and will receive a lower blessing! Yet a sufficient number to complete the foreordained Plan has been found throughout this Gospel Age. As the Body of the Anointed One, under the Headship of the glorified Son of God, and as members of the Melchizedek order of Priesthood, those faithful to the end will receive the Divine acknowledgment and association with the Master in His Kingdom and glory. "To Him that overcometh will I grant to sit with Me in My Throne, even as I overcame and am set down with My Father in His Throne." The promises to these, with and under their Master, include a participation in the Divine nature.—Revelation 3:21; 2 Peter 1:4.

The Principle a General One.

The Divine Plan in many respects is like a telescope whose joints may be extended. We have seen how this Plan applies primarily to our Lord Jesus alone. We have seen the second joint in the telescope extending and making it applicable to the Church, which is the Body of Christ. Now let us extend it still further, and perceive that the principle holds in respect to humanity.

It would not be true to say that humanity will ever be offered a share with Christ and the Church on the Heavenly plane of glory. It would not be true to say that mankind in general will ever have the opportunity of entering into the same kind of Covenant that Christ and the Church now enter into—a Covenant of self-sacrifice. But it is quite true that there is to be an earthly Kingdom; and that mankind will be privileged to attain to full membership in it on conditions not very dissimilar to those terms upon which the Church became joint-heirs in the Heavenly Kingdom with their Lord.

Earthly Kingdom For Adam and His Children.

The earthly kingdom will be the kingdom which Adam lost when he became a transgressor and came under the sentence of death. This earthly kingdom, as well as the king, Adam, and all of his family, Jesus redeemed, purchased back from death and desolation. He purchased it not for Himself, for He already had the Father's promise of a better and higher, a Heavenly Kingdom. The earthly kingdom was purchased for the very purpose of restoring it to Adam and his race—to as many of them as would avail themselves of the mercy of God, to be extended to them by the Messianic King dom, during the thousand years when Adam will be bound, and when Christ and the Church will reign until every enemy shall be put under their feet.

As it did not please God to allow the fallen Adam to continue to be the king of earth, living in sin and degradation, a dishonor to the Creator's Empire, so it will not be pleasing to God that any shall come back into rulership under Messiah's Kingdom except such as shall have learned fully the lesson of the exceeding sinfulness of sin and the love and mercy of God in their redemption, and such as will then love righteousness and hate iniquity. All others will be destroyed as "members of the ground"—as "natural brute beasts" will they be destroyed.

The Earthly Kingdom and Holy Place.

The thousand years of Messiah's Reign, then, will be for the purpose of giving to every member of the human race a full opportunity to return to God. All will be made to understand, from the least to the greatest, that by the close of Messiah's Kingdom an earthly kingdom will be established under the whole heavens, and that none may be sharers in that kingdom except such as have clean hands and pure hearts, such as will humble themselves and learn the great lessons to be learned, and not lift up their souls to pride, vanity and self-sufficiency.

All will be taught that if they would enter into that kingdom they must take upon themselves vows of obedience to the Lord. All will learn that the thousand-year period is for the testing of their faithfulness to those vows and those lessons which the glorious Messiah will bring to their attention, making them conditions of acceptance and worthiness of everlasting life as human beings in a world-wide Eden.

They shall receive the blessing of Jehovah, intended from the very beginning for His earthly children. Given to Adam, but lost by him and redeemed by Jesus, this blessing will be given again to those who shall demonstrate their worthiness by their loyalty during Messiah's Kingdom. But the evil-doer, the lover of evil, the proud, the haughty and the deceitful—Covenant-breakers—will be destroyed from amongst the people.—Acts 3:23.

Clean-Handed, Pure-Hearted.

In closing, I feel inclined to press the two special features of our text, "clean hands and a pure heart." We have already admitted that as fallen, imperfect beings it is impossible for us to be absolutely clean, right, just. All the more must we strive for such a condition. The New Creature must be on the alert to scan all of life's affairs and to measure all things in life with the Golden Rule—Is it right? Is it just? Is it doing to others as I would that they should do to me? We make progress in proportion as we strive for this cleanness of hands, cleanness of conduct, righteousness. To be slack, to be indifferent, not to strive, would mean to the Lord that we were half-hearted in our love for righteousness and hatred for iniquity.

Purity of heart we have already noticed as signifying purity of intention and of motive. But the Lord has made a special provision whereby His people may indeed maintain the purity of heart and cleanness of hands in His sight, whereby they are continually reminded of the imperfection of the flesh and the need of the cleansing blood of the Savior.

However pure in our hearts, we may find weaknesses of the flesh arousing in us anger, malice, hatred, strife. These the pure in heart are to resist, remembering that these are the works of the flesh and of the Devil; and if, peradventure, in an unguarded moment, any of these devilish qualities should attach themselves to us ever so briefly, we should realize that they have left a stain. It would be for us to make right with others whatever of injustice we have done, and then to go to the Lord in prayer, that we might obtain mercy and find grace to help for future times of need. Thus may the Lord's people maintain their purity of heart and cleanness of hands. Thus may they abide in the Father's Love. Thus may they fulfill the Covenant of Sacrifice. Thus may they become "meet for the inheritance of the saints in light."

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. On Tuesday evening, October 7, at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. H. O. Rowlands will give his popular lecture, "Tantalus," at the Fifth Street Baptist church. Dr. Rowlands is a speaker of rare ability, and a treat is in store for all who hear him. Admission 25 cents. 10-422t

Order of Reindeer Is Instituted In Newark By Supreme Organizer

Newark lodge, the Order of Reindeer, is a reality. Over 250 Newark men, from nearly all walks of life, Sunday were administered the solemn obligations of the order by Hon. John C. Harmony, of Canton, O., supreme organizer of the supreme lodge, officers were elected to serve until January 1, beginning of the new term, and the ball was started rolling toward a doubled membership.

William H. Broome was unanimously chosen for the first president of the Newark lodge, and amid cheers from the big assembly he took the seat of office. Early in the proceedings a suggestion that the charter be kept open for three weeks general theme of fraternalism. He referred in passing to the principles advocated by fraternal organizations in general, and spoke from his knowledge as a member of the Elks, Eagles, Moose and Reindeer. In course of his address he took occasion to pay high compliments to the Moose lodge, which in no few respects resembles the Order of Reindeer.

Concluding his remarks, Supreme Organizer Harmony proceeded to administer obligations and secret work of the order to the 250 men assembled before him. Following this he expressed thanks of the supreme lodge, in behalf of the state organizer, for the courtesies shown the latter during his work here.

The business of electing officers was then taken up, and temporary officers were in all instances made permanent, to fill the unexpired term which runs to January 1.

At the conclusion of the election Supreme Organizer Harmony turned over the gavel to President W. H. Broome, who delivered an address of appreciation to the order, and stirred the new members to enthusiasm over the prospects of a doubled membership within the next few weeks.

The suggestion that each member present bring at least one more member before the closing of the charter, Oct. 26, was well received, and each member pledged himself to exert every effort to do so.

It was arranged that State Organizer Huffman should remain in Newark for a few more weeks and continue his office at 29 1-2 Arcade. The state organizer will have his office open until 8 o'clock each evening to receive new members.

Before the meeting adjourned a getting-acquainted social session was planned for Wednesday night, Oct. 15, when refreshments and cigars will be served following the lodge meeting. This will be the first regular meeting of the newly organized lodge, and it will be held in the place of organization, Eagles hall.

Supreme Organizer Harmony, accompanied by State Organizer Huffman, left Sunday night for Canton. Huffman returned Monday afternoon.

The new officers expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the class of members enlisted in the original organization in Newark, and predicted easy success in bringing the membership to at least twice the present figure. Business men, professional men and tradesmen representing nearly every craft in Newark, with a good membership from Utica, compose the organization.

Occupying a conspicuous place in the hall, Sunday, was the exact replica of a half-grown Reindeer, which was shipped here Saturday. The reproduction is done in papier mache, but is so perfect a representation of a good job of taxidermy that it proved a surprise to all who viewed it. The Reindeer probably will be placed on display in some downtown show window.

"MADE IN NEWARK" EXPOSITION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

"It" was a man. That fact was definitely settled shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night when "Ami," the mechanical doll, who has entertained thousands of Newark people and out-of-town visitors with his ability to pose as a man-machine, mounted the platform erected in front of the Western Union telegraph office and addressed the immense throng assembled for the exposure.

The settlement of this momentous question concluded the "Made in Newark" exposition which was given all last week in the Arcade. Ami was the center of attraction, though the exhibits drew thousands to the Arcade.

It was difficult for many people to believe that any man could acquire such absolute control of his muscles and to come so closely to fooling people into the belief that he was an ingeniously constructed machine. After his brief address, in which he congratulated the Arcade merchants on their enterprise, he was loudly cheered for the part he took in the show.

The committee which was in charge of the exposition, received much praise for the success of their efforts and the members of the committee expressed their appreciation of the loyal support from their fellow merchants in the Arcade and the splendid cooperation of the manufacturers of the city. The event goes down in the city's history as one of the most successful ever attempted.
